

Still it courses several times each day,

going to the farm's deep market,

Looking like a drop of Van Gough paint against the farm's great swash of green.

